Some Conventions/Policies

- Tibetan translations are included in the apparatus when they indicate variant Sanskrit readings.
- Sanskrit renderings suggested by Tibetan appear in brackets after the translation's siglum. These renderings are hypothetical and cannot be provided in all cases.
- When two Tibetan translations differ slightly, they are separated by a semicolon. Only the second translation includes a Sanskrit rendering.
- A Tibetan translation's siglum is included when it appears to support one of multiple Sanskrit readings, based on the editors' judgment.
- Tibetan is not included in the apparatus when it offers no clear support for or against a reading.
- When both Tibetan translations of the commentary agree, they are given the siglum TV.

^{iv} Here one may wish to conjecture a reading such as, anumapetyādi. anupamam ity ... This reading is partially suggested by TV: khyad par ji lta bu zhiḡ dang ldan zhe na | dpe med ces bya ba la sogs pa smos te | dpe med pa ni (ni) TV_{AD}; dang TV_{BG}). The corruption, if there is one, can be seen as a kind of haplography. The text nonetheless reads acceptably well with the transmitted reading (although perhaps less smoothly); thus we feel that while a conjecture is possible it is not strongly compelling.

^v The manuscript's dharmakāyarūpitvena is theoretically acceptable and nearly synonymous; however, dharmakāyarūpatvena is more expected, with forms in rūpatvena being vastly more frequent in Classical Sanskrit. TV's reading chos kyi sku'i ngo bo nyid kyi does not clearly confirm either variant, as rūpin in the root verse is also translated as ngo bo. We provisionally adopt dharmakāyarūpatvena, but cannot fully discount the transmitted reading.

^{vi} We need not necessarily read a compound for āyatipathyam, treating instead āyati as a locative of āyat. The expression appears as a gloss for hita in several Buddhists texts, such as in Vilāsavajra's Nāmamantrārthāvalokinī: mahyam hitam maddhitam hitam āyatipathyam āgāmipariṇāmatvāt (p. 233). Similarly, Durvekamiśra writes in his Hetubinduṭīkāloka: parasmai hitam āyati pathyam (p. 212). In both cases, the construction is ambiguous, but in the latter case, the editors of Durvekamiśra's text have not taken it as a compound.

khyam tadātve pathyam⁹ cakravartitvādikam,^{vii} tasya yā prāptih¹⁰

The word āyatipathya is used less ambiguously in compound by Śākyarakṣita, quoted in the following note. Similarly, the roughly parallel expression āyatisukha is evidently treated as a compound by Yaśomitra in his Abhidharmakośavyākhyā: aihikasukhārtham apuṇyam iti. ihasukhāpekṣayā tat kṛtaṃ nāyatisukhāpekṣayety arthaḥ (vol. 1 p. 299). Note also the contrast made with aihikasukha. Likewise, we can find a compounded form of āyatiduhkha in a verse attributed to Naradatta in the Subhāṣitaratnakośa: muṇḍāpriyād āyatiduhkhadāyino vasantam utsārya vijrmbhitaśriyaḥ | na kaḥ khalāt tāpitamitramanḍalād upaiti pāpaṃ tapavāsarād iva || 'Who does not become miserable because of a rogue who, like a hot day, is hated by widows (? muṇḍā) (the hot day being hated by bald men), who leads to future pain, whose wealth expands after he expels those living with him (like the hot day manifests its richness having dismissed the spring), and who annoys his circle of friends (like on a hot day the orb of the sun is heated) (cf. INGALLS 1965: 553).

^{vii} The text is insecure here but perhaps not far from the author's intention. Where the manuscript reads tad dāpayati pathyam (word division unclear, pa and ya touching), we conjecture tadātve pathyam, following only partially the lead of TVAD. The Tibetan translations read as follows: gang la phan pa ni ma 'ongs pa'i phan pa ste | sangs rgyas nyid la sogs pa'o || de la bde ba ni 'phral gyi phan pa ste | (TVAD); gang la phan pa ni ma 'ongs pa'i phan pa ste | sangs rgyas nyid la sogs pa dang | de la bde ba ni bde ba ste | 'khor lo bsgyur ba nyid la sogs pa'o || (TVBG). It appears that TVBG also transmits a corrupt reading with de la bde ba nit bde ba ste. TVAD suggests reading something that contrasts with āyatipathyam, for which tadātve pathyam fits. Another possibility is āpātathyam, but tadātva is more often used in contrast with āyati. See, for example, Śākyarakṣita's Vṛttamālāstutivṛtti: prthagjanatve 'pi āyatipathyadarśinas tadātve ca niṣpāpāḥ (p. 299); 'Although ordinary people, they see the future welfare and are without sin in the present moment.'

The Tibetan translations also suggest that hita and saukhya are linked with relative and correlative pronouns: gang la and de la, or yasya and tasya in Sanskrit. This does not yield good sense. It is possible that tadātve was misread by the translator as a correlative pronoun, while it is also possible that a second relative pronoun (yat) or a conjunction (ca) was found in the original text near saukhyaṃ. Here hitasaukhya within the larger compound is only really viable as a dvandva: Avalokiteśvara causes the attainment of (ultimate) welfare and (temporary) happiness for all beings. Given that, tayor yā prāptih might be preferable to tasya yā prāptih, but the singular is also probably acceptable in place of the dual.

^{viii} It is notable that Vāgīśvarakīrti evidently understands °prāptikāra as a bahuvrīhi, whereas other commentators may prefer to treat it akin to kumbhakāra and therefore as an upapadasamāsa as per Aṣṭādhyāyī 2.2.19 (upapadam atīṇ). Given the latter understanding, the expected gloss for prāptikāra would be prāptim karoti. Compounds ending in kāra are occasionally analysed as ṣaṣṭhītatpuruṣas: see, for examples, Vijñāneśvara's Mitākṣarā ad Yājñavalkya-dharmaśāstra 2.61 on satyaṃkārakṛta, here referring roughly to a thing 'acquired with a pledge', i.e., acquired as earnest money: karaṇaṃ kāraḥ, bhāve ghaṇ. satyasya kāraḥ satyaṃkāraḥ—kāre satyāgadasya (Aṣṭādhyāyī 6.3.70) iti mum. satyaṃkāreṇa kṛtaṃ satyaṃkārakṛtam (p. 275). We are unable to provide another example of a compound ending in kāra analysed as a bahuvrīhi, but we should also note that the compound prāptikāra is itself rare.

TV does not clearly reflect a ṣaṣṭhībahuvrīhi analysis, nor does it very clearly point to another reading: de dag sgrub par mdzad po gang yin pa de la de skad ces bya'o (TVA_D); de dag gi rgyu mdzad pa gang yin pa de la de skad ces bya'o (TVB_G).

^x In this case TVB_G resembles closely the Sanskrit text transmitted in K, apart from the addition of a further gloss after vyākula. The reading nam par bkab pa ('covered') doesn't yield much sense, but it could be a mistake for nam par bkang ba ('filled'), which is perfectly fitting and synonymous with TVA_D's nam par khyab pa (Negi records the latter as rendering vipūrṇa in some texts). One may wish to conjecture such a reading. TVA_D is significantly different here, even though most of the words of the transmitted Sanskrit text are still reflected: du ma'i man ngag ces bya ba la sogs pa la | 'das pa dang ma 'ongs pa dang | da ltar gyi slob dpon du ma'i man ngag gi tshogs yang dag par bsdu pa'i mdun gyi dbye bas yongs su dkrugs pa ni | nam par dkrugs pas nam pa thams cad la nam par khyab pa ste | des bsgrub par bya ba dkrugs pa'o || The text is dubious but reflects a Sanskrit text along the following lines: nānopadeśetyādi. atītānāgata-vartamānācāryopadeśarāśīsaṃgrāhakaiḥ saptabhir bhedaīḥ saṃkulair vyākulaiḥ sarvatravīpūrṇaiḥ taiḥ sādhyasaṃkulaiḥ.

^{xiv} These two verses are in Indravajrā.

^{xv} An alternative to °abhyuddharaṇakāmatā is to read °samuddharaṇakāmatā. This definition of karuṇā, in various forms, is well known in Buddhist texts. See, for instance, Durvekamiśra's Hetubinduṭīkāloka: ... duḥkhāt duḥkhahetor vā samuddharaṇakāmatā nāma yā karuṇā ... (p. 234); or Manorathānandin's Pramāṇavārttikavṛtti: duḥkhād duḥkhahetoś ca samuddharaṇakāmatā karuṇā (edition reads dukhā°; p. 21).

^{xvi} One may instead wish to accept the manuscript reading nirābhāsanirañjanaṃ, which is understandable as a viśeṣaṇasamāsa. The combination of nirābhāsaṃ nirañjanam occurs in a verse from an untraced source cited in Raviśrījñāna's Amṛtakaṇikā: *yat kāyaṃ sarvabuddhānāṃ nirābhāsaṃ nirañjanam | ajñātam a-
kṛtaṃ śuddham abhāvādivivarjitam* || (p. 19)

^{xvii} sakalajagadarthakāri can also be read in compound with mahākaruṇā°. This is reflected in TV: 'gro ba ma lus pa'i don byed pa'i snying rje chen po. Regardless, the two are evidently closely related.

^{xviii} The manuscript reading ceti after dvātriṃśallakṣaṇasaṃjñakāni appear superfluous. The commentary analyses sallakṣaṇa as a karmadhāraya, glossing sat with śobhana; dvātriṃśallakṣaṇa serves as a clarification of that, requiring no further conjunction. Likewise, the words iti and saṃjñaka together are redundant. In TV, the zhes bya following the phrase may either render iti or saṃjñaka—we find this rendering for the latter in the commentary on verse 9 for mahāsukhasaṃjñaka. We cannot fully discount that Vāgīśvarakīrti wrote the transmitted reading, nor can we give a clear explanation for the corruption, if it is one. Nonetheless, given that this appears to be genuine redundancy rather than simply a stylistic oddity, we provisionally conjecture a slightly smoother reading.

^{xix} Here niṣyandaṃ should be understood either as an accusative form (as it is in the verse) or (less likely) anomalously as a neuter noun.

^{xx} cf. Abhidharmakośa 2.57c: niṣyando hetusadrśaḥ. Vāgīśvarakīrti perhaps also alludes to Dharmakīrti's definition of yogic perception in Nyāyabindu 11: bhūtārthabhāvanāprakarṣaparyantaṃ yogijñānaṃ ceti.

^{xxi} ISAACSON (personal communication) proposes sāksātkaraṇāvasthāyāṃ or sāksātkṛtyāvasthāyāṃ as potentially superior readings to the manuscript's sāksātkṛtāvasthāyāṃ or the previous edition's sāksātkṛtāvasthāyāṃ.

In support of the former, see Vāgīśvarakīrti's Samkṣiptābhiṣekavidhi: tadanaṃtaram ekatathatāmatena tayaiva bhinnamate tv ānaya svasaṃviditajñānasāksātkaraṇāvasthāyāṃ pūrvoktagāthayā adhyeṣitavate śiṣyāya tatpāṇau tasyāḥ pāṇim pratisthāpya | (p. 417)

^{xxiv} In the Dhātupāṭha, the tenth class verbal root $\sqrt{\text{guṇa}}$ is said to express āmantrana. Here, however, this is a denominative verb with the sense of āmreḍaṇa (multiplication/repetition) formed from the noun guṇa.

^{xxv} The manuscript's reading of simply sakalam instead of kṛtyam sakalam is asymmetrical given the following gloss, avaśyakartavyam kṛtsnam. Here TV reads simply nges par mdzad par bya ba ma lus pa, reflecting only the gloss and neither sakalam of the K nor the conjecture kṛtyam sakalam. It is also possible that sakalam is a mistaken scribal addition, but it's also possible that even if the Tibetan translators saw kṛtyam sakalam, they chose not to render this because of the superfluous sounding result in Tibetan. We believe the manuscript's transmitted reading is improbable.

^{xxvii} The compound °svābhāṅganāśleṣajagadarthakāri is strinckly speaking not impossible, and could perhaps be interpreted as an instrumental tatpuruṣa; however, given that this is a prose explanation of the verse, there is no need for the author to use such a compound and it seems more likely that the scribe left off the ikāra.

^{xxviii} Something along the lines of āsaṃsārasthāyi sākṣāt kriyata iti may have dropped out of the text here given TV, but there is no very compelling reason to think that it did. The addition words certainly relevant, given that it is a pertinent feature of the first sādhyā that it remains active for as long as saṃsāra continues to exist. We can be reasonably sure that TV reflects āsaṃsārasthāyi with 'khor ba ji srid du bzhugs pa, as this is the Tibetan rendering of this word in the next section.

^{xxx} Normally bshad ma thag pa in Tibetan has the sense of anantarokta, but here the translator probably did intend it to render upadeśānantaram eva as we find the same rendering later in the paragraph.

^{xxx} The understanding offered by TV, which reflects asphuṭaṃ instead of sphuṭaṃ, appears to indicate a misunderstanding on the translator's part, confusing the word division of kṛtvā sphuṭaṃ. It is not possible for sphuṭikṛtaṃ to take an accusitive object, nor is a form such as sphuṭikṛtya possible without larger changes to the text.

^{xxxiii} Here TV reads yon tan du 'chad do, whereas K transmits the reading *uktagu-

Sanskrit reading, but it does convey a different sense. Whereas the Tibetan seems to say that the sādhyā 'is taught to be a good quality', the Sanskrit suggests the meaning 'which has the previously mentioned qualities'.

^{xxxv} This conjecture follows the Tibetan translation, with the reading in the K being difficult to account for. See, for instance, a similar expression in Siddhaika-vīrasādhana (author unknown): tato niḥsṛtaraśmibhir ā pādatalād vālāgraparyā-ntaprapṛptaṃ bhāvyaṭe (Sāghanamālā no. 67, vol. 1, p. 67); de las byung ba'i 'od zer gyis rkang pa'i mthil nas skra'i rtse mo'i mthar thug pa khyab par bsgoms te (Tōh. 3461 fol. 116r). ADD REFERENCE

^{xxxvi} TO CHECK: TVA_D appears to be defective here, with different readings in Derge Koyosan and Delhi. TVA_D: ba spu'i rtse mo'i mthar thug par gyur pa'o || (gyur pa'o ||) Koyosan; gyur ba'i Delhi [MW23703]. TVB_G: ba spu'i rtse mo'i mthar thug par yang dag par gang bar gyur pa'o ||

^{xxxvii} TV is perhaps ambiguous and may not reflect a different reading of the Sanskrit if thog ma dang tha ma med pa'i is understood to qualify rang bzhin instead of ngos po.

^{xxxviii} The compound beginning anantaprabheda° is challenging to unpack and not entirely secure in its reading. The K transmits the compound in a way that includes either the word arati or ārati, neither of which can reject prima facie. TVA_D suggests reading rati, while TVB_G has no reflex of the word but may be corrupt, given that it sounds rather incomplete. TVB_G is also missing a reflex of bhedā, although it does have one of pra from prabheda, also indicating corruption. The term aniittarati or mtshan ma med pa'i dga' ba does occur in Jñānapāda's Samantabhadrasādhana: animittarativiśuddheḥ samastadevīgaṇasvabhāvaṁ tat | (122ab; reconstructed in SACCONI and SZÁNTÓ 2023: 261); mtshan ma med pa'i dga' ba rnam dag pa | ma lus lha mo'i tshogs kyi ngo bo nyid || (Tōh. 1855 fol. 34r5; the translation in Tōh. 1856 by Smṛtijñānakīrti poses some problems and need not be dealt with here); 'Because of purification by signless pleasure, that [awareness] has as its nature the group of all goddesses.' This parallel does lend support to reading animittarati, but the context is technical and esoteric, so some caution is due.

As for the analysis of the compound, while various possibilities may be entertained, the main ambiguity is whether anantaprabheda qualifies animittarati or paramānanda. An analysis on the basis of the former could read: anantāḥ prabhedāḥ yasya sānantaprabhedānimittaratiḥ, tatsvarūpasya paramānandasyopabhogaḥ, taddvāreṇa. Of the Tibetan translation, while TVA_D renders all words found in the Sanskrit text as constituted in some form, it is hard to interpret if one does not remove or modify various instrumental and genitive particles. From rūpavajrā° up to sambhujyamānaṁ, TVA_D reads: gzugs rdo rje la sogs pa nas | sgrol ma'i mthar thug pa'i lha mo'i tshogs kyi mtshan ma med pa'i dga' ba'i rang gi ngo bo'i rab tu dbye ba dpag tu med pas mchog tu dga' ba la nye bar longs spyod pa'i sgo nas | gzugs brnyan dang 'dra bas yang dag par longs spyod pa. TVB_G has the same readings, apart from the two suspected lacunae mentioned above.

^{xxxix} E_{DH} misreports K as reading paripāvanārtha.

nirvṛtti (derived from nir-√vṛt) to nirvṛti (derived from nir-√vr), but here metre prevents the former. There is in any case overlap between the two words and they are not always strictly differentiated.

^{xliii} This verse is in Śālinī metre.

^{xliv} The syntax of TV suggests reading karuṇāsaṃvalitasya: 'gags pa'i 'khor lo las snying rje'i rang bzhin can sems can gyi don ('gags pa'i] TVB_G; 'gog pa'i TVA_D). However, karuṇāsaṃvalita naturally qualifies cakra and not sattvārtha.

^{xlv} Here one may wish to emend to sātasaṃpūrṇaṃ cakraṃ to avoid the karmadhāraya, given that the author did not previously use a karmadhāraya when referring to this. Nevertheless, such a karmadhāraya is in any obvious way out of the normal scope of Vāgīśvarakīrti's usage.

^{xlvi} It is possible that kṛtvā sthātavyam was missing from the original text or from the version of it consulted by the Tibetan translators; alternatively, it is possible that the translators simply didn't feel it was necessary to explicitly render. Here the agent of sthātavya can be understood to be the unspecified sādhaka who is also the agent of the gerunds earlier in the sentence. Although a genitive of the causitive of √sthā, sthātavya here has no object that is specified apart from the sādhaka himself: i.e., he should make himself rest or establish himself in a state by doing what is described. The construction is frequently used in the Hevajratāntra, such as in 2.3.44: satataṃ devatāmūṛtyā sthātavyaṃ yoginā yataḥ; '... for the yogin should always establish himself/remain with the form of the deity.'

^{xlvii} If phala is understood as the object of √ah, then the reading nirodham is an acceptable reading, but the agent of kṛtvā has to be understood as separate from that of √ah, perhaps depending on an implicit verbal form such as sādhyā. Alternatively, one can supply an iti after phalam and understand the preceding as direct speech, thus avoiding any confusion about the agents of kṛtvā and √ah.

^{xlix} TM_D's reading rab tu mi rung phyir is suprising, given the commentary, presumably executed by the same translator, reads rab tu grub pa nyid [kyi phyia].

^l This verse is in Śālinī metre.

^{li} TV indicates that the text may have included a compound analysis of prajñājñāna, but if so, it is unclear what kind of compound this analysis signifies. If it is for a karmadhāraya, we would expect the TV to read as it does elsewhere for such analyses, with something like shes rab kyang de nyid yin la | ye shes kang de nyid yin (cf. the commentary on 5cd). The reading in TVB_G is probably corrupt after phyis te: byang chub appears to have been moved from the following clause with bodhicitta to this clause. Perhaps the text should read phyis te rdzogs pa'i dus so || gang zhe na |. Taken altogether, TV suggests the translator may have had a different reading here, but no compelling emendation is indicated.

^{lii} TV reflects basically the same words as transmitted in K but with an understnading that may reflect a different underlying reading. Whereas the Sanskrit text as transmitted in K appears to suggest primarily one thing that would be vyartha on this position—namely, sarvaprayāsa taught by the tathāgatas that is characterised by repeated anuṣṭhāna directed at meditations on mantras and so forth. TV, on the other hand, seems to understand two items that would be vyartha: namely, sarvaprayāsa and sgrub pa'i mtshan nyid, probably anuṣṭhānalakṣaṇa: gang gi phyir sngags dang phyag rgya dang | lha nyid la sogs pa'i rnam pa bsgom pa la yang dang yang du 'bad pa dang | gzhan yang de bzhin gshegs pas gsungs pa'i sgrub pa'i mtshan nyid don med pa thob par 'gyur ro || 'Because it would follow that repeated effort in meditation ... and, what's more (gzhan yang; Skt. ca?), what is characterised as practice taught by the tathāgatas would be useless'. This understanding is made more noteworthy by the manuscripts reading the dual tathāgatoktau, but may be just coincidental, given that the understnading reflected in TV is not very compelling on the level of overall sense.

^{liv} Samājottara 113f

^{lv} The referent of tat in tadrūpaṃ is evidently caturtham. TVB_G essentially reflects the transmitted Sanskrit reading but eva, if it is rendered by nyid, is slightly out of place.

^{lvi} E_{DH} emends niruttara to nirantara stating that this reading is bhoṭānusārī, but the situation in TV is slightly more complex. The transmitted Sanskrit suggests reading a string of adjectives starting with anāsrava that qualify pravāhitva. Here reading nirantara and avicchinaprabandha would lead to redundancy. TV instead renders a series of abstract nouns before pravāhitva, with TVA_D including something reflective of nairantarya (bar ma chad pa nyid). Both TVs lack a reflex of niruttara.

pa'i dngos po, which looks like a corruption for TVB_G's mtshon par bya ba dang rather than anything indicative of a variant reading in the Sanskrit.

^{lviii} By normal conventions the anena here would indicate that the word being glossed, lakṣyaṃ in this case, denotes the agent of verbal root. That is clearly not the case, so anena, if it is not a corruption (it is not reflected in TVA_D), must refer back to the lakṣaṇa.

^{lix} TVA_D adds near the beginning of this sentence Samājottara 113ab: abhiṣekaṃ
tridhā bhedam asmin tanre prakalpitaṃ |.

^{lx} There is little doubt about the meaning of the text here, but its constitution is not very secure. Both Tibetan translation suggest that the whole of Samājottara missing 113f was cited. While TVA_D offers a somewhat cleaner text, TVB_G again may reflect something closer to K, with a pronoun immediately following iti and the word 'caturtha' marked off by an iti on its own. Various proposals could be entertained for a smoother Sanskrit text, but what the K transmits can be understood: '[Objections]: But there exists (asti) a word (pada) for that (tat) [fourth initiation]—namely, this (etat): “the fourth [is that again like that]”

^{lxi} After rendering upadeśasaṃrakṣārtham (man ngag bsrung bar bya ba'i phyr

nslation of pratipādayiṣyamāṇatvāc ceti.

^{lxii} Here TVB_G quotes again the entire pāda of Samājottara 113f. This is an undesirable reading: It is specifically the words tat punaḥ that indicate the Buddha real intention of speaking of caturtha, not the entire pāda.

^{lxiii} Tib. discusses two further pakṣas here: that the fourth referred to in Samājottara 113f is the four aṅga of sevā and so forth; and what appears to be the idea that the fourth initiation consists in the third accompanied by its fruits ('bras bu dang bcas pa). Of these the first is rejected on account of its rendering cultivation meaningless, and the latter is rejected as siddhasādhana.

^{lxiv} The K's reading arthasyaikasya is problematic. At face value, it would mean 'a single external object', whereas the argument is clearly concerning all external objects. Even if the meaning of eka were strained and taken in the sense of 'unitary', the following reason would become tautological. Emending ekasya to eva is also compelling based on the TV, which clearly renders the eva with nyid.

^{lxv} TVA_D finishes the clause ending pradhānatvāt with a rdzogs tshig: gtso bo nyid yin pa'i phyir ro. This creates an incomplete sentence with the clause pointing neither forwards or backwards, since the clause ending in nirākṛtatvāt also ends with phyir ro. The translation may either be corrupt, or perhaps the translator was uncertain about how to construe the clause. Here the reason should probably point forward: although it does support the non-primary of external objects, enough reasons have been given to support their general non-existence, and the primacy of awareness in the Vijñānavāda and Madhyamaka positions can be seen as a basis on which one might accept the lakṣya to be jñāna.

^{lxvi} Here and at the end of the next paragraph, TV renders citrādvaita as shes pa gnyis med, as if reading cittādvaita. The more expected rendering is sna tshogs gnyis med.

^{lxvii} TVB_G presents this argument differently than what is transmitted in Sanskrit but maintains lotical flow: don (rnam pa) de dag kyang med pa'i phyir shes pa'i ngo bo nyid kyang med yin na | de ji ltar rnam pa dang bcas pa ma yin zhe na | 'Because those objects [i.e., ākāras] also do not exist, the nature of cognition too cannot exist. ^{lxviii} (TO EXPAND AND REORGANISE) Here 'on te in TVB_G isn't a strong reflex of ucyate, but like ucyate it does explicitly mark a change in pakṣa. The ucyate ending the previous sentence may be suspect. A similar formulation was used in the previous paragraph: tat kathaṃ nāstīty ucyate? There TV reads: ji ltar med ce na | (TVB_G); de ci ltar med ces brjod | (TVB_G). Here, for tat kathaṃ tad asti paramārthata ity ucyate, TV reads: de ji ltar na don dam par grub par yod pa zhes bya zhe na (TVA_D); de ji ltar na don dam par yod par grub pa zhes bya | (TVB_G). From this it is difficult to draw firm conclusions, but ces brjod and zhes bya probably more strongly point towards ity ucyate rather than simply iti. Again TVA_D demonstrates more simplified language.

^{lxix} TV changes the subject of the sentence from vijñāna to the ākāras of vijñāna. TVA_D is likely corrupt or wrong edited with shes pa rnam ni in place of TVB_G's shes pa'i nang na.

^{lxx} Both Tibetan translation exhibit various degrees of corruption and/or confusion here: cung zhig kyang log pa'i rnam par ngo bo ni snang ba'i phyir ro || (TVA_D) cung zhig dang log pa'i rnam par 'khrul pa'i ngo bo mi snang ba'i phyir ro || (TVA_D).

^{lxxii} The word sākāraṃ appears to have been omitted from the text transmitted in K. It is supported by the Tibetan translations and can be inferred by the reason sukhāder ākārasvabhāvatvā, and the response to this objection later in the paragraph.

TV may reflect also the inclusion of an api somewhere in this sentence given the particle yang (e.g., sukhādyākāraṃ api). Here again TVB_G as altered the argument slightly: bde ba la sogs pa'i rnam pa yang rnam pa dang bcas pa'i shes pa kho na la dmigs pa yin te |; 'Forms such as pleasure too are perceived with only a cognition that has forms.' TVA_D is closer to the Sanskrit syntax: bde ba la sogs pa'i rnam pa'i shes pa yang rnam pa dang bcas pa kho na la dmigs pa kho na yin te |; 'Cognition too that has the forms of pleasure and the like are only perceived to be none other than [cognitions] with forms.'

^{lxxiii} E_{DH} appears to understand the text as saying that both bhāvanā and *jagadais the instrument by which the vyāvasthā is established. The manuscript reading suggests taking °bhāvanā in compound with the following word—i.e., in the Madhyamaka system, although mere appearance is false, the framework of everything starting with lakṣyalakṣaṇa is established.

kṣāt kartum aśakyatvāc^{198, lxxx} ca dvitīyasya kalpanāmātrateti.¹⁹⁹

^{lxxviii} TV could be rendered as something like evaṃsati ca prathamasya hānir iti.
Indeed this seems to be the sense, but the manuscript reading of bhavane na or bhavanena is hard to account for.

^{lxxix} TV_{AD} lacks a reflex of sarvadā, whereas TV_{BG} lacks a reflex of eva.

^{lxxx} TV suggests reading: kevalasyānupalabdheḥ rucyabhāvāc cakrākārasaṃvalita-syānupalabdheḥ sāṅskārtkartum aśakyatvāc ca. The addition of anupalabdheḥ after kevalasya renders the flow of argument's logic less smooth. The addition of the same word after cakrākārasaṃvalitasya does not change the argument in its overall sense. Note that the Tibetan 'khor lo'i rang bzhin could instead imply the reading cakrasvabhāva or something similar, but it may simply be a free rendering of cakrākārasaṃvalita.

TV also adds the reason 'bad pa mtshung pa'i phyir' ('because the effort is equal').
The purport of this is unclear.

^{lxxxvi} The response the objection is considerably different in Tibetan. It states that while fire is regarded by mundane consensus as having a causal effect on fuel insofar as it transforms it, emptiness has no such effect on the maṇḍalacakra. It is also therefore not something that causes it to cease, nor is it known to itself cease of its own accord. Although the Sanskrit MS is very corrupt in this paragraph, it is difficult to see how the text it transmits corresponds to the Tibetan translation.
